Lula was married to Nathan Powell and Jessie Jackson both preceded her in death. Her third child, Nathan Power, Jr. Also preceded her in death. She worked hard to make sure that her children had proper care; sometimes she worked two jobs.

Her work was primarily devoted to caring for children.

In the 1950s, Lula's journey lead her to Mr. and Mrs. Connie

Mack, Jr. In the words of some the Mack's children, 'they quickly realized that they had found the warm, caring person they could trust to help raise their children. He love created a very special bond between the Jackson/Powell and Mack/McGillicuddy families that has lasted for decades and is sure to continue for many more"

Lula confessed Christ at an early age and began serving the Lord at Zion Spring Baptist Church in Pittsview, Alabama and continued at St. Mary Baptist Church in Fort Myers, Florida. She was an active member of St, Mary until her health failed.

Lula, a devoted mother, a loving grandmother, a caring great-grand mother, a faithful employee and a dutiful servant of God passed from this life on March 13, 2010.

She leaves to cherish her memories: two daughters, Caroline McCollum and Bettye Bolden (Harrison); one son, Elroy Powell, Sr. (Harriet); grand children, thirty-one, great-grand children and eight great-great-grand children; three sisters, Annie Florence of Seale, Alabama, Beulah Jones of Gary, In and Virginia Johnson of Columbus, Ga. An a special niece, Arleatha Green special family, the McGillicuddys devoted friends Alda Dawson and Stanley Murphy; a very caring cousin, Eddie Edmond (friend Gerri), many nieces, nephews and friends.
