

Fisherman's Prayer

I pray that I may live to fish until my dying day and when it comes to my last cast
I then most humbly pray when in the Lord's great landing net
and peacefully asleep that in His mercy
I be judged
BIG ENOUGH TO KEEP

And Owen Cooper said,
"If I had my life to live over, I would love more.
I would especially love others more.

I would let this love express itself in a concern for my neighbors, my friends, and all with whom I came in contact.

I would try to let love permeate me, overcome me, overwhelm me, and direct me.

I would love the unlovely, the unwanted, the unknown, and the unloved.

I would give more. I would learn early in life the joy of giving, the pleasure of sharing, the happiness of helping.

I would learn to give more than money.
I would give some of life's treasured possessions such as time, thoughts, and kind words.

If I had my life to live over I would be much more unconventional because where society overlooks people I would socialize with them. Where custom acknowledges peers, at best, with whom to have fellowship I would want some non-peer friends.

Where tradition stratifies people because of economics, education, race, or religion, I would want to fellowship with friends in all strata and I would choose to go where the crowd doesn't go, where the road is not paved, where the weather is better, where friends are few, where the need is great, and where God is most likely to be found."
