Mildred Boyle

Mildred Louise Yeager Boyle, 105, passed away on June 17, 2014, at the Allisonville Meadows Nursing Home in Indianapolis.

She was born March 10, 1909, in the Blue Ridge area of Shelby County near Waldron. She was a member of the West Street United Methodist Church and was a past Noble Grand of the McQuiddy Rebecah Lodge.

Mrs. Boyle was predeceased by her husband of 66 years, Edwin R. Boyle, in 2001; her parents, Charlie and Nellie Yeager; brothers, Donald, Roy and Bob; sisters, Maxine and Evelyn.

She is survived by her youngest sibling, Betty Benson of near Waldron; children: Tom Boyle and wife, Annette, of Indianapolis; Kathy Cheatham and husband, Roy, of St. Augustine, Florida; John Boyle and wife, Jo Ella, of Punta Gorda, Florida; and Charles Boyle of Indianapolis. She had nine grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

Mrs. Boyle was a 1927 graduate of Waldron High School and attended the Terhune Business College. She was a "fiercely independent" lady, living alone in Shelbyville until 100 years old. She said many times she enjoyed life, prayed a lot, enjoyed bird-watching, reading and eating cookies. She was dubbed "The Cookie Monster" by those around her and she enjoyed the title. She was renowned for her exceptional apple pie which many failingly tried to duplicate.
